

Native Gardens Workshop - 2012

March 24 - 9:00 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.
($35 members; $45 non-members)

Need ideas for sprucing up your home landscape? Want to see dazzling butterflies and birds in your own yard? Whether you want to add some color to your garden, perform an "extreme yard make-over", install a rain garden or create your own wildlife sanctuary, we've got something for you!

🦋 Taste the honey from local pollinators as Terry Smith, local beekeeper, reveals which native plants will attract and support the greatest diversity of pollinators.

🦋 Donald Geiger, Professor Emeritus at the University of Dayton and MEEC Member, will discuss how to propagate native plants and the importance of local seed sources.

🦋 Erik Lewis, Farm Bill Wildlife Biologist with Pheasants Forever, will relate the importance of native grassland restoration and how to create your own native prairie!

Gain advice on the best native plants for your yard and tips to attract specific wildlife. With a sample of wildflower and grass seeds, you can start planting your own native oasis right away!

The workshop will take place in the Marie S. Aull Education Center, 1000 Aullwood Rd., Dayton. Register early to guarantee your place in this workshop! Call 890-7360 to register.

Go Native! Native Plant Sale

Public Sale April 14 - (10:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.)
By pre-ordering, you have the first chance to buy rescued wildflowers on April 13 (2:00 - 6:00 p.m.)

Pre-order Form Deadline April 10

Transform your garden, yard, pond or woods with native plants. Attract birds, butterflies and wildlife! Enjoy diversity and the beauty of your native garden! The plants that are offered in this sale are species that naturally occur in Montgomery and neighboring counties. These plants are all from local sources and are adapted to this area, not from far away places like Wisconsin or Missouri.

April 13, 2:00 - 6:00 p.m. - Plant sale pickup only for customers with pre-orders

If you want to personally select the plants that you have pre-ordered, you must come to Aullwood Farm (9101 Frederick Pike) on Friday, April 13 between 2:00 and 6:00 p.m. Or, we can select your order for pickup on the 13th or 14th. On Friday, you may purchase additional plants not listed on the order form. We will have many rescued wildflowers. They cannot be pre-ordered but you can buy them before the general public if you pick up your order on Friday afternoon. We will have Virginia bluebell, mayapple, Jack-in-the-pulpit, twinleaf, Dutchman's breeches, wild ginger, trilliums, bloodroot, rue anemone and many more.

April 14, 10:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. - Plant sale open to the public

You may also pick up your pre-order on April 14 at Aullwood Farm from 10:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. If you did not pre-order, you will have the opportunity to purchase a variety of native plants, rescued wildflowers and hertufas!
